Highlights

INMACULADA CONCEPCION CATHEDRAL

This magnificent church located in the heart of the city began its construction in 1856 under the orders of the Bishop Pedro Loza y Pardavé. Its construction was halted a year later, it returned in 1875 and was completed in 1899.

The facade is Gothic influence and has three naves with their respective altars, following the Baroque style. It also stands out its candiles and its beautiful atrium where two Cristo Rey and a statue of Juan Diego welcome to visitors.

STONE ISLAND

Really a peninsula is located south of Mazatlan, just a short boat ride across Navigation Channel. With about 4,000 residents, Stone Island Mazatlan has a lot to offer, but without the crowds of mainland Mazatlan. Mexico's third largest coconut grove follows the length of the southern beach, which seems to disappear on the horizon as it stretches eastward. Gentle waves make for a refreshing swim, and the sandy beach is the perfect place to take in the hot Mexican sun. Many of the restaurants rent out ATVs, catamarans, banana boats, and horses. Showers and volleyball courts are sometimes available free of charge if you find the right place.

THE TREE ISLANDS

Mazatlan is recognized for its tree islands, each one are part of the ecological reserve and wild flora and fauna refuge zone. The name of the tree islands are: Birds island, Deer Island and wolfs island.

You can arrive to those beautiful places by boat, in the main island (deer island) have been discovered rock paints, for that reason this place elevate its historical value. At those islands you can find a natural paradise to practice aquatic sports, get relax at its peaceful waters.
