Highlights

XILITLA

If you are yet to experience paradise, you will find something very close in XILITLA. Amidst humid paths that almost always lead to some type of charm, the Sculptural Garden of Edward James will truly impress you with its fantastic collection of 36 structures set in the middle of exotic vegetation that seems to camouflage them. Built by the eccentric Scotsman Edward James, here you can observe figures as strange as their name suggest (Stairway to the Underworld). Take a moment to wind down in an atmosphere of peace and tranquility, accentuated by the babble of the waterfall in Las Pozas.

AQUISMÓN

You will be left speechless when you see the 345 feet-high Tamul Waterfall, a fantastic place for rafting and kayaking in the Tampaón River (which begins here), rappelling, diving, sport fishing and camping in the nearby areas. But make sure you have enough energy left for the Golondrinas Pit Cave which, emerging out of the mountainous vegetation, is a colossal pit of more than a third of a mile deep, where every morning and afternoon, thousands of swifts (similar to swallows) and parrots flutter around creating a beautiful spectacle, as well as proving to be a challenge for the speleologists

REAL DE CATORCE

The fame of this town has positioned it as an enigmatic place and full with magic. An entire experience is the singular access through the Ogarrio Tunnel, drilled in the solid rock of the hill taking advantage of the tunnel of a mine with a length of 2.5 km. It has lately been used as set for diverse films with artists like Brad Pitt, Julia Roberts, Penélope Cruz, Salma Hayek among others.
